NBC News last night reported that President Biden had more classified documents in his possession at another location.

A fresh classified documents trove

NBC News broke this story at 3:38 p.m. EST, citing a “person familiar with the matter.” This source said Biden’s aides have been searching other offices Biden used while a private citizen. NBC disclaimed any precise knowledge of the “classification level, number [or] precise location” of this second batch of documents. Nor do they seem to know when the aides found these documents – or how many other caches of documents might exist, or exactly where.

CBS News, of course, broke the first story, which CNAV covered extensively yesterday. The first cache of classified documents turned up in Biden’s office at the University of Pennsylvania Joseph R. Biden Center for Diplomacy and Global Engagement, or Penn Biden Center for short. No one will yet describe the contents or classification level of this cache.

Reaction and speculation

Senator Josh Hawley (R-Mo.), quoting that NBC report on Twitter, answered with two words:

Special counsel <https://t.co/omuc8YuAz8>

Rep. Troy Nehls (R-Texas) offered similar advice:

BREAKING: Biden aides found another batch of classified documents in a new location.

Attorney General Merrick Garland must appoint a special counsel.

Amid cynical predictions that Attorney General Merrick Garland will take no action, punitive or otherwise, one person darkly speculated:

Sounds like the establishment is trying to get rid of ol' Joe. 🙄

President Trump, for his part, commented tartly on the double standard of treatment of himself and Biden.

Biden's documents are HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL, many pertain to UKRAINE, where Hunter was "raking in the dough," and FUNDED BY CHINA, which gave $55 Million to Biden, through Penn, and probably had easy access. Was the Old Crow's boss, China loving Coco Chow, involved? Just asking?

Trump would be referring, not to Russia's "special military operation" in Ukraine, but to Biden's son Hunter's business dealings there. The "Old Crow" refers to Sen. Mitch McConnell (R-Ky.) and his wife, former Labor Secretary Elaine Chao.

Trump also had choice words for Karl "The Architect" Rove, who tried to suggest moral equivalency between Trump and Biden:

Karl Rove was, as usual, wrong when he stated that then V.P. Biden's HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL papers, which were in his office for many years, were in any way similar to the Secret Service guarded, & otherwise very secure, Mar-a-Lago papers. Biden was not then President, had no power to declassify, & came under the very tough Federal Records Act. I come under the much more generous Presidential Records Act, was having productive discussions with Radical Left NARA, & did everything right. A giant Scam.

Update

We now know where Biden's aides found the second trove of classified documents. KTTH Radio commentator Jason Rantz cites a fresh report from The New York Times:

You can't make this up. But you can write the script from CNN and MSNBC.

CNN: This is common and no big deal!

MSNBC: And in the latest news from the insurrection...!!!! pic.twitter.com/JfgzxnJ1Rw
