Hello, this is Darrell Castle with today's Castle Report. Today I will be talking about the virus, of course. What news is there except the virus? But this report is more about going to sleep in one country and waking up in another. For the Castle family it is day 35 of house arrest. For the family daughter, she is still stuck on a small island at the bottom of the world. But all are still healthy, and we are grateful for that.

World surveillance – to mark everyone in the world

My argument for you today is that the world surveillance state has been building for a long time. But the virus has given it the impetus to advance with breathtaking speed. It is now coming into existence before our eyes. The virus is the excuse for allowing the digital world powered by artificial intelligence and the real world to combine. Pretending these days have not arrived or simply choosing to ignore the facts will not save you from what is already here. The technology to track and monitor every human on earth is finally available to those who desire such control.

The argument for the mark

Dire predictions from the beginning have fueled much of the hysteria. I defer to Dr. Ron Paul:

When Anthony Fauci first warned that 2 million people would die there was a race among federal, state, and local officials to see which could rip up the constitution fastest.

All the original numbers and predictions were not only wrong but not even close to correct.

Much of what I am about to tell you might seem too fantastic for you to believe. But if so, I invite you to do the research and check for yourself. You don't have to take my word for it. But I'm convinced that the picture that I'm painting for you today is the correct and accurate one.

A faulty premise and a conflict of interest

To many so called “experts” present in our world today, the only way out of the Covid-19 crisis is with a vaccine to create immunity in the world’s population from the effects of the virus. Time estimates for a suitable vaccine vary from a few months up to as much as 18 months. Bill Gates says that a vaccine cannot be made available to every human on earth for at least 18 months. And, he advises, the world should stay in a stringent lockdown until then. Dr. Fauci echoes that sentiment although he varies slightly in method. I note that Dr. Fauci serves on Mr. Gates’ vaccine counsel, a clear conflict of interest.

A plan to destroy the economy

I will not go into how damaging Mr. Gates’ vaccines can be. Last week I quoted the work of Robert Kennedy, Jr. who says it more eloquently than I can. I am saying then that the proposal, which is under active implementation, is to risk the economy by staying locked down for months or years. But I can feel the desire to remain locked starting to slip as resistance mounts.

Bill Gates, dictator

Bill Gates has been on a worldwide media campaign to promote his vaccines. He tells us we don’t have a choice because we can never be normal again without his vaccine. It seems that the word normal has been taken from us along with many other things. I want to be normal again, since I miss my old life. So I guess I should say “OK Mr. Gates bring it on”. Mr. Gates reportedly told the President that he would have to stay in lockdown until everyone was vaccinated, unless he was willing to ignore the pile of bodies in the corner. Who is this man Bill Gates and did anyone vote to grant him such power?

Detail of the mark

Everyone who gets the vaccine must get a “digital certificate” to prove they are safe. Furthermore, this certificate must be easily scannable by computer or phone. I first read that some type of tiny tattoo was under consideration. But, thanks to the scientists at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), the problem has been solved. MIT, in cooperation with the Gates Foundation, has developed a digital injection by vaccine. This is not technically a microchip, but instead is a digital record of vaccination.

It can, however, contain everything about you which anyone can know. That includes:

- Your complete medical records,
- Drivers' license including driving record,
- Any criminal charges or records, and
- Credit score and credit history.

Utility of the mark – to authorities

If desired, a complete history of internet sites visited and purchases made will also be available, thanks to Google and Amazon. Data harvesting apps allow the government to track all web use and all digital purchases. They can even track where you go and whom you meet there. This is the new surveillance state and its here now. This is not some scenario out of 1984, although it is Orwellian in nature. I want to emphasize to you that this fence around humanity is basically finished right now. The virus is just the excuse.

And none may buy nor sell...

So, Bill Gates tells us we must have this vaccine and take his mark, or we will never be able to return to work or attend a mass gathering again. He is not a doctor, but Dr. Anthony Fauci backs him. (Although he seems ashamed of it, so he softens the approach a little. He says perhaps the certificate could be something we carry with us all the time like a driver's license.) Dr. Fauci's role seems to be to agree with and support Bill Gates, but distract us from the real agenda. Why would we accept a best-case scenario whereby police could stop us anywhere and ask us to produce our papers? Didn't we fight a world war against people who did that sort of thing? Yet that is apparently our best-case scenario.

Papers you don't even have to show

The digital information injected with the vaccination will supposedly not require you to show anything. You will either have the vaccination or you will not. And if you don't, then you are not safe. So you cannot work, use public transit, fly on a commercial airliner or attend mass gatherings. Ultimately, perhaps you will not be able to buy, sell, or conduct the normal processes of living. How could anyone expect us as Americans to put up with such a nightmarish, Orwellian, thing in our bodies? Fear, I believe, is the spur to stampede us to accept being marked like animals in the field.

A lot of Wild Man wannabes

Recently President Trump made it clear that he is in favor of reopening the country. But certain governors object, so he defers to doing it piecemeal a little at a time. That's federalism, I suppose. So governors lift the ban, but leave the mayors of certain cities free to set their own schedule. The mayor of my city of Memphis has extended the ban to May 5th at the earliest. The health department chairman in my county says that we must be ready to lockdown again anytime the virus reappears. This keeps us in constant uncertainty. It will reappear and I am certain of that. It will keep reappearing, keep locking us in our homes, until the vaccine is finally ready.

Some politicians from governor on down seem to be looking for an excuse to unleash their inner tyrant on us. For them the virus is a perfect fit.

A mark long in planning

None of these things will stop, or even slow down, what I have been telling you is coming. The onslaught of the total surveillance state is here now, and the virus is a convenient excuse to expedite the implementation. The United Nations has had this as a goal for a long time. ID 2020 is the U.N. plan to provide digital ID of all people on earth including birth registration by 2020. That obviously is now. Sustainable Development Goal 16.9 set the goal for final implementation by 2030. But thanks to the virus, we don't have to wait.

Complicity of WHO

The World Health Organization is an arm of the United Nations and very friendly to China, the nation where the virus first appeared. President Trump eliminated WHO's U.S. funding, or at least greatly reduced it. Now the Gates Foundation has been the largest funder of WHO, and Gates and vaccines are basically the same word. The world must have a system to determine who is safe to return to work, and who is not safe, according to Mr. Gates. The system he is about to install in us by vaccination will tell him that, and much more.

In banking...

The virus has accelerated the process to the point where banking will now also be involved. Eventually all money will have to travel through banks and all information will be readily available. In other words, folks, global government is instituting itself right now in front of our eyes. The plan depends on silencing dissent. Therefore, if you speak out you are the enemy and it will be patriotic to denounce you.

I know what this sounds like since I've been forecasting its coming for at least 27 years. But this time, folks, there really is a wolf, and he is at the door. This is an interesting time to be alive considering human history. It reminds me a little of when Hugo Chavez spoke at the U.N. just after George W. Bush. He said I can smell the sulfur in here. Well, I can smell sulfur in this world right now.

Public-private cooperation

Public-private cooperation will reign as the corporate world assumes control of the political world through the seeming magic of artificial intelligence. This is the 4th industrial revolution as some have said. That is the post-industrial, post-financial, world. In it, industrial brilliance, which used to drive a free America, yields to collectivist public-private cooperation that both embrace.

Anything to get their jobs back

The planners give people something, anything, to focus on, besides what is actually happening to them. So people focus on something over which they have no control instead of focusing on their day to day problems. They focus on the virus which kills mostly the old and vulnerable. For the young, its not much of a threat. But their jobs, social lives, hopes, aspirations, their whole world is upended. So everyone will be willing to take the vaccine to put an end to it. The people of the world will line up in complete trust. Why? So they can return to normal as dreary as normal may be for some.

Resistance to the mark

Easy Plugin for AdSense by Unreal

Some people are not going quietly into that good night, however. From California to New Jersey they are protesting the lockdown orders. The lockdown and the fear created by the dire numbers quoted in the beginning and still quoted in some places serve to enhance fear, uncertainty, and the need to create a vaccine to solve our problems.

The progression...

Doctor Ron Paul goes further in the article already linked above:

States that did not arrest citizens for merely walking on the beach are not doing worse than those that did...

When Dr. Anthony Fauci first warned that two million would die, there was a race among federal, state, and local officials to see who could rip up the Constitution fastest.

Then Fauci told us if we do what he says only a quarter of a million would die.

They locked America down even harder.

Then, with little more than a shrug of the shoulders, they announced that a maximum of 60,000 would die, but maybe less. That is certainly terrible, but it's just a high-average flu season.

...and what might have been instead

Imagine if we had used even a fraction of the resources spent to lock down the entire population and focused on providing assistance and protection to the most vulnerable — the elderly and those with serious medical conditions. We could have protected these people and still had an economy to go back to when the virus had run its course.

Pointed protests

Fortunately, the plan of totalitarian control is backfiring at least in some areas. People are going into the streets to protest. And its not only because they can't work. They are starting to see and understand the gross inconsistencies and hypocrisy going on in the explanations they are getting.

For example:

From Kevin Sorbu the actor:

When the state shuts down millions of businesses but doesn't lay off a single government employee it's not about your health.

When the state puts you in jail for your health because you walk in a park or paddle in the surf, but lets criminals out of jail for their health, its not about your health.

To mark people like cattle

In conclusion, people will be intimidated, frightened, and stampeded into taking the vaccine. Most will have no regrets because they will feel safe at least for a while. That authorities have turned them into cattle on Bill Gates' worldwide farm will not occur to them until too late. After all, folks, its all for our own good and our own health.

We're not going to take it – the mark or the abuse

Finally, folks, what can we do to stop this thing? Not very much it seems. But we could as one take the Howard Beale approach from the movie Network. I am a sovereign human being. My life has value. I'm mad as hell and I'm not going to take this anymore. The virus has exposed the cracks in the system that were there all along. Now if we can just take advantage of that knowledge and put it to good use.

At least that's the way I see it.

Until next time folks,

This is Darrell Castle.

Editor's Note

The scenario Mr. Castle outlines here, especially the cattle analogy, appears also in the Revelation from St. John of Jerusalem. John writes:

He also passes a law to give to everyone, small and great, rich and poor, lawful resident and inmate, a cattle-brand-like stamp in the right hand, or on the forehead. No man would be allowed to buy or sell if he didn't have the mark. That mark is either the name of the Wild Man or the number of his name. And here is a matter for insight. Anyone who can understand, can calculate the number of the Wild Man. It is a man's number, and the number is 666.

Revelation 13:16-18, editor's direct translation from the United Bible Society's Greek New Testament.

The word that in English appears as mark stands for a cattle brand, from the same root that gives us the word character.

And in the alternative...

In fact the Greek letters that form the number 666 – chi, xi, and (terminal) sigma – also form a Greek initialism. The initials stand for Christos, xulon, and stauros – Christ, wood, cross. “Christ on a wooden cross.” Which means one of the two Wild Men is pretending to be Christ Himself.
