Hello this is Darrell Castle with today's Castle Report. Today I will be talking about the movement to cleanse history by removing any trace of it from our conscious thought and the result that action is sure to bring. The Castle family is doing fine right now although the family daughter is still stuck and perhaps a little lonely, so many thousands of miles away from anything she is used to. We spend some time reminiscing about days long ago when our memories tell us we were a little happier. But we know that memories sometimes deceive.

The barbarians riot, loot, and tear things down – but who made them?

What I am about to discuss in this Castle Report are not things you may have seen listed as the cause of the recent riots, looting, etc. and the failure of authorities charged with doing something to stop it. Those things are just symptoms of the real problem which is the crumbling and collapse of the American civilization. We seem content now as a people to erase our history. So we will soon have no memory of where we come from and who we are. This erasure of history is common for conquered people but unusual for those who remain somewhat free. The education system has, for decades, been busy propagandizing the young that cleansing should happen. The constant favorable response to each new incident by the mass media makes it seem normal for many.

From George Orwell to Julius Caesar

George Orwell had it figured out though, more than 70 years ago.

Every record has been destroyed or falsified, every book rewritten, every picture has been repainted, every statue and street building has been renamed, every date has been altered. And the process is continuing day by day, minute by minute. History has stopped. Nothing exists except an endless present in which the Party is always right.

It's a little reminiscent of the burning of the library at Alexandria, Egypt by Julius Caesar in 48 B.C.¹ That library supposedly contained the only collection of the world's knowledge to that date. What survived, mostly Irish Monks, laboring in monasteries to reproduce the books by hand, recopied. People want to be virtuous and good by cleansing the world of what they consider to be bad. But the do gooders who strive to save the world are usually trying to concoct a way to control it.

People notice the barbarians – outside and inside

People are waking up and growing tired of what is happening to them though. And that is at least a glimmer of hope. The players in this drama are sorting themselves out right now in front of the eyes of the world. This is the fourth turning in which people grow suspicious of government and turn to open defiance or just ignoring it.

Lord Byron's life cycles – from freedom to barbarians

Nations have life cycles which rise and fall over the centuries. Lord Byron told us about that long ago in the late 18th and early 19th centuries. He was an English romantic poet born in 1788 and died in 1824 so he lived 36 years. In that time, he traveled around Europe and spent 7 years in Italy. He fought in the Greek war of independence against the Ottoman Empire. During his travels he wrote his poetry but also wrote his theories on the life and death of nations.

Lord Byron said that nations have life cycles like people. First, they find freedom, then glory, then wealth, then vice, then corruption, then barbarism. I add my own theories to Lord Byron's by speculating that nations build monuments and honor their heroes during the glory years. During vice and corruption, they are too into themselves to care much about anything. But when they start to tear down the monuments they are headed toward the final barbarism.

Defunding the police lets the barbarians run amok

Along with the destruction and cleansing of history comes the vice and corruption, the lying hypocrisy of the people aided and abetted by the example of government. For example, last weekend, 4th of July weekend, New York City under the leadership of Democrat mayor Bill De Blasio, fought hard and down to the wire for the honor of displacing Chicago as the most violent, crime ridden murder haven in America, but fell just a little short. NYC, over the weekend went 64 and 10 and that means 64 shot and 10 dead.

That's pretty horrible, Mayor De Blasio. So great job, but not as great as Democrat mayor Lori Lightfoot in Chicago which went 87 and 17. That's 87 shot and 17 dead in one weekend. So for the mayors to say black lives matter might be just a little hypocritical. The more they cut police funding, the more they expect police to do to clean up the messes politicians make.

| Defunding the police may have negative consequences

Ghislaine Maxwell and what she represents

The other example I can think of and what rings out loudly if we can still hear, is the arrest of Ghislaine Maxwell. You probably recall she was the pimp, madam, confidant, procurer, for serial pedophile Jeffrey Epstein. Ms. Maxwell, or G-Max as she called herself, apparently has the goods in her head and on video of many people, from British Royalty to Hollywood royalty and everything in between. The numbers of the ruling elite involved in satanic pedophilia is incredibly large and can no longer be denied.

Reject God, and act like an animal, then you become one

My point is that the American people have had the veil lifted from their eyes. And what they are seeing are the most vile and disgusting habits of the ruling elite in this world. These people are not special and are certainly not the best and brightest. They have rejected God and determined that evil exists, and it is good, so it is what they seek. When a people reject God then that people accept a nihilistic view of mankind. Which says that we are essentially just animals with self-conscience thought, very little different from the beasts.

Barbarians in the palace show their brass

That is what the people are seeing from their ruling elite. The officials of government, the officials of hereditary royalty, and the officials of celebrity. What the people do with the information is up to them, but none can deny it any longer. I quote Richard Fernandez writing for PJ Media:

There was something joyless about that life despite its veneer of trendy causes and intellectual advancement. There seemed more happiness and hope in an African hut than in their deceit ridden palaces. If that was the view from the top, then it was the view from hell. Cynicism on this scale is hard to hide from the public. What they glimpsed, dismayed. The elite seemed convinced there was no God or worker's paradise, no balm in Gilead, no justice on earth. But as to the devil—he most definitely existed.

Lèse-majesté

Well amen Mr. Fernandez! I echo your thoughts on this subject. “No culture can long survive the total corruption of its legacy and symbols,” he writes. Mr. Fernandez also points to the photo available on the internet of Ghislaine Maxwell and Kevin Spacey seated on the thrones of the king and queen of England as guests of Prince Andrew and Bill Clinton respectively.

This is the desecration the barbarians wreak when they are inside the palace. They accept that nothing is sacred, and they accept their own damnation. And as Mr. Fernandez points out they are determined to live out their debauchery without even the possibility of redemption.

Barbarians in high places and low – all the same

The public is shocked that the gangs of criminals in high places are not much different from the gangs on the streets of our once great cities. They both engage in debauchery, in mindless violence, and the victimization, and destruction of children. But to me, the criminal elite seem far worse than the street thugs. Napoleon Bonaparte when told that he would have victory if God willed it replied that God was on the side with the strongest battalions.

The ruling elite have always had the strongest battalions surrounding them with:

- Their very corrupt news media acting as nothing but their propaganda arm, and
- The Department of Justice protecting their backs at every turn.

A possible weakening

Politicians shield the guilty from each other and from us. Only occasionally is one so careless that he requires sacrifice, i.e. Harvey Weinstein. The battalions protecting the guilty are starting to weaken just a little. If G-Max is willing to testify rather than face 20 years in maximum security, then perhaps we will get just a glimpse of all the rats running from the light. She says that she is not suicidal, although I understand she is under suicide watch 24/7.²

Turning away from government

Americans see all this and are turning away from government in droves. They understand that government has become nothing more than the rule and manipulation of the masses by a small mob of elitists. They make numerous rules and regulations for the rest of us which they have no intention of following themselves. It is infuriating to the small person on the street, so he bides his time, he waits. He hopes he can change things by voting so he votes. His elected candidate seems to be with him at times but also remains very cozy with those ideas he opposes.

The Deep State allies with the barbarians

It's true the Democrats are exploiting for political purposes the protests, riots, looting and racial division that currently infects the nation. The deep state assets such as US intelligence including NSA, CIA, FBI and others all work together with law enforcement and the elite media as they shape the narrative in ways they think will give them the best chance of defeating Trump and getting back the world they seem to believe he threatens. The struggle is about power, and power is about money. Who gets to control the feeding trough now and in the future? The one who has the Federal Reserve's unlimited bank at his disposal controls everything.

A Marx-like race struggle theory abets the barbarians

The history of man in America is one of racial struggle against oppression. At least so Democrats want us to believe. I submit that the real argument is actually about what the Democrats are all in on right now. Which is the theory that if they can just racialize society into hostile camps they can grab and hold permanent power. If they have permanent power, they can disperse money to anyone they want to buy. At least until the whole thing collapses, and after the collapse I suppose they will rule the rubble.

The Democrats hide their own history

The Democrats seem very good at keeping their own history away from those who seek to purge history. That Democrat Party was the Party which opposed Abraham Lincoln and his efforts to keep the South in the union.³ When that failed, the Democrat Party became the political wing of the new Confederacy. Out of that Party eventually came the post war KKK. Now the Democrat Party busies itself by bringing the country to the edge of another civil war which currently remains cold.

Foreign wars

If the danger of civil war were not enough here in America, the Democrats never met a foreign war they did not love. The wars which have been ongoing since 1991 against mostly non-white people of alien cultures and alien religions are always pushed and funded by Democrats. When President Trump sent 52 Tomahawk cruise missiles into Syria, Democrats in Congress said he was finally acting presidential. Their propaganda arms The New York Times and The Washington Post fronted for their follies each time.

Fostering the barbarians – but people notice

Why do these so-called news organizations, including television networks and print media continually lie to convince black people to hate white people and thus keep American society in a constant state of turmoil? A complete multicultural America would inure to the desire of the Democrats to build a permanent hold on the reigns of empire. That is the bad news folks, but the good news is that people are starting to see through it. Many people see through the obvious lies of networks like CNN and publications like The New York Times.

When they assist the Democrats and their intelligence agencies in fabricating a totally false case against the President simply to weaken and discredit him, some people are starting to notice.

The WWII memorial defacement

Finally, folks, the people I've been talking about defaced and damaged the World War II memorial in Washington D.C. When they did that they denigrated the men who fought that war. They are proud, boastful, arrogant, lovers of self, educated but ignorant cleansers of history. For those reasons and many more I refer to them, the media which fronts for them, and the politicians who enable them, as barbarians. History needs preservation, not cleansing.

At least that's the way I see it.

Until next time folks,

This is Darrell Castle.

Editor's Notes

1 In all historical justice, this unfortunate incident was most likely an accident.

2 Jeffrey Epstein did not commit suicide. Some guard, or inmate, with Clinton Foundation money to fatten his purse, murdered him. CNAV believes, as one-time French resident Mdlle. Maxwell might say, in calling a cat a cat. Happily, Attorney General William Barr seems to understand this. "A perfect storm of screw-ups" most outlets quote Barr as saying of the death of Jeffrey Epstein. To prevent this in Mdlle. Maxwell's case, Barr – or someone just has smart – has ordered that the warden and guards of the Brooklyn Metropolitan Detention Center to allow her only paper garb and no bedclothes, and to transfer her frequently within and between cellblocks. They do not want a repeat of the death of Jeffrey Epstein while in ward!

3 Given that, their collaboration in the cleansing of Richmond's Monument Avenue becomes ironic in the extreme.
