

When ever some one brings up George Floyd's death it is important to learn the real facts of the event and see through the lies and twisting of the facts used to promote the anti-Police agenda. The first to note that is constantly ignored is that George Floyd was on probation/parole. He was a convicted criminal due to his participation in a violent home invasion and other crimes. He was not some innocent person. He was a known violent criminal.

The only reason the police were involved in questioning George Floyd the day he died was they were called by a store where George Floyd had used a counterfeit $20 bill. By the time the police arrived George Floyd had gotten into his vehicle. Instead of cooperating with the police he refused to cooperate. Keep in mind any person who is on parole or probation can be searched at anytime by the police. They are still under the provisions of Amendment 13 and Amendment 4 does not stop them from being searched.

Now is when it get interesting. Knowing he would be searched George Floyd consumed all of the drug fentanyl he had in his possession. Indications have also indicated he may have been might have consumed meth as well. When one reads the various medical reports he consumed so much of it that it left a circular burn on his tongue. Reports indicates he started shaking. Since he continued to refuse to get out of the vehicle the police finally forced the door to the vehicle open and dragged him out of the vehicle. George Floyd continued to resist and fight the police.

Eventually, the police force George Floyd to the ground and used a set of standard methods to get him under control. After he stopped resisting them the officers started putting more attention to the crowd around them who had shown up as a result the police showing up. At some point a nurse, from reports, noticed that George Floyd appeared dead. Shortly after this the anti-Police movement that the "Left" created to create problems started accusing the police officers of causing George Floyd's death. When one looks at the various video it becomes obvious that the one officer's knee on George Floyd's neck was not apply any significant pressure.

The anti-Police rhetoric results in the officers being charged with crimes related to George Floyd's death. When one listened to the pathologists at the rigged trials of the officers one will notice how the pathologists downplayed the lethal amount of drugs in George Floyd's system. The simple fact is George Floyd committed suicide and the "Left", as usual, twisted the fact to advance their agenda of destroying society and the "Rule of Law".

The look at how the "Left" tried to twist Eric Garner's death, which was the result of his resisting arrest for doing what he knew would get him arrested again. He had been arrested and convicted of the same crime something like 49 times or more. He was also so obese that when he started the physical confrontation with the officer he caused a heart attack that eventually killed him two hours later. The look at how the "Left" tried to twist Michael Brown's death. He attacks a police officer in a police car, trying to take the officer's gun, started to flee, and then after the police officer got out of the car returns to attack the officer. The officers is forced to kill Michael Brown. They were not able to twist these cases to advance the anti-police agenda. But they were with the George Floyd death and the officers who were only doing their job. We can see the results of the anti-police agenda today as more people are being victimized by crime. The simple fact is the officers in the George Floyd case are the victims of the "Left's" political witch hunt games used to advance their agenda of control and dictatorship.
